

MORRISSEY ON TRAIL OF PERSONS SELLING WHISKEY ON STREETS

Citizens of Jamesville aroused by the large number of intoxicated men wandering the streets of Jamesville, are anxious to ascertain the source of the liquor supply. Chief of Police Thomas Morrissey, who is supplying the persons who are supplying the whiskey to the thirsty, has said today he would make every effort possible to bring the guilty parties to justice.

Police officials and others who have taken an interest in the sale of liquor are unanimous in their opinion that the source of the whiskey is being supplied by strangers. A careful check by the police of different places in Jamesville shows that the persons who are supplying the whiskey are not attempting to cheat.

Wednesday night the police arrested two men and confiscated five quarts of whiskey. The men admitted they were unable to tell the name of the party selling the liquor in Jamesville and it can be secured. That is certain but where it is coming from or who is supplying it is not known.

It is a problem that the police are determined to solve. Chief Morrissey has instructed his men to bring every person with a sign of intoxication to the station and lock him up.

It is being said in Jamesville that I am going to find where it is being peddled and I will not stop until every bootlegger in the city is behind the bars," said Chief Morrissey. Several complaints have been heard about the city of Sunday night which have been staged above the four mile bridge north of Jamesville. Several men congregated on the river bank and spent the night drinking and gambling after which they return to the city many of them under the influence of liquor, it is alleged.

BELOIT AVENUE WILL BE WIDENED

Motorists and others who have complained of the old Buob brewery to Eastern avenue, will soon have nothing to kick about. Street Commissioner Thomas McKune started a crew of men to work on the street today. When the work is completed the street will be from 35 to 40 feet wider from the brewery to Eastern avenue.

Several loads of sand were hauled to the place yesterday and the work of widening the street started this morning.

The telephone poles will be moved about 15 feet west and the poles along the Rockford Interurban company will also have to be moved. Mr. McKune said that the work would be finished in record time, providing the weather did not retard the workmen.

BASEBALL POOLS TABOOS BY CHIEF

Jamesville people who have been selling baseball pools on the world series have violated the law. Chief of Police Thomas Morrissey said today that the sale of the tickets would have to stop. Several complaints have been registered against the sale of the tickets and in several instances it is said young boys have purchased them.

"I have been especially careful to see that the law was not violated in this respect. After a careful check I have found that most of the tickets are being purchased in Beloit," said Chief Morrissey.

Baseball pools were tabooed in Jamesville several years ago after the pools gained great fame throughout southern Wisconsin. Since that time the local people who were anxious to gamble on the outcome of baseball games have been buying their tickets in Beloit.

Wisconsin Near Top in Drive for Sailors

The Wisconsin-Nichigan district, Indiana and Kentucky are running neck and neck in the present "Man-of-the-Fleet" drive of the navy. Each of the three naval districts has enlisted a large number of sailors during the week ending Thursday. The Chicago district leads the central division with 97 recruits, while New York city is second with 85. The New York district has enlisted 122 recruits. Indiana leads the Wisconsin-Nichigan district by one man.

Secretary Josephus Daniels of the navy department, commenting on the new naval program said recently, "The world is to be made over. There is new geography and a new map. The seas mean more to us now than before the world war. Seafaring is to come into its own with better opportunities and better pay for men who go down to the sea in ships."

"Service in the navy, in these days is practical schooling. It provides good food, good treatment, character instruction, opportunity for advancement to the highest rank and an open door to honorable service to one's country."

HOW CAN AIR STOP A TRAIN?

(By Dennis N. Hyde.)
"What makes the whistling sound when the railroad train stops, Dad?"
"It's the air that stopped the train."

"How can air stop a train?"
"By means of the air brakes. Instead of having the brakeman put on the brakes by twisting the hand brake-wheels as they used to, the engineer puts on the brakes by compressed air."

"On the car trucks there are brake-beams with iron brake-shoes beside each wheel. Under the floor is an air cylinder connected by pipes and levers to the brake-beams. The air cylinders of the cars are coupled together by an air pipe under the cars and an air hose connects the engine with this air pipe. The air is connected with a compressed air tank. The air is compressed by a pump on the side of the locomotive boiler."

"To stop or slow up the train, the engineer, by means of an air valve, turns compressed air into the pipe line under the cars and forces the brake-shoes against the wheels. The whistling sound is the escaping air as he releases the brakes."

"Have you ever noticed the slow, regular breathing of an engine as it stands still? That is the exhaust from the steam-driven air pump on the side of the boiler. The exhaust is run through the smoke-stack and increases the draft of the engine fires."

"Years ago, to stop a train, the engineer squatted the brakes with his whistle and the brakemen ran through or over the cars to set the hand brakes. That dangerous job was ended by the invention of the Westinghouse air brake about 30 years ago. Cars are still equipped with hand brakes for emergency use and to hold them while standing in the yards. Brakemen now have other duties, but their name comes from the old hand brake work."

"I want down to Beloit and after driving the machine for two blocks, gave it up as a bad job," said Mr. McKune. "I was told by two men at Clinton, former employees of the county, that the machine was unfit for any kind of work."

Mr. McKune said today that he was still at the roller and hoped to find one so the work could be started as soon as the wet weather was over.

One of the biggest concerns in the country was lined on two counts in municipal court but the investigators state that the violations here are frequent and flagrant and must stop or the full penalty of the law will be visited upon those who do not heed the warnings given.

Puerto Plata, San Domingo, Oct. 3.—Under the protection of United States marines, 600 recruitment boys, have been opened in the country districts of the island republic in which about one half of the children are being taught.

Before the pacification of the Dominican republic by the marines, there were practically no schools for the poorer classes. Even where there were schools, parents were often afraid to send their children to them along roads and trails infested with bandits.

Every village in which a school is located is now guarded by marines or the native "Guardia" commanded by Uncle Sam's sea-soldiers.

Outside of School

HOW THE MODERN GIRL WORKS.

(By Mabel Cronise Jones.)
"This is the day," said Mr. Johnson, "of the over-worked woman. It is impossible for my wife to get any suitable domestic help. Even if she could, I'm afraid I couldn't stand the prices you have to pay now. She has to do everything herself. I'm sorry. It's wearing on her. But what can I do? All I know is that our home would be ready to wear if it were fashionable enough to go on a strike."

"Over in our neighborhood," said Mr. Baker, "are a bunch of smart girls. It is remarkable what those girls can do. They make good money, and they are worth it. They are helping my wife every day."

"One of them is quite an expert at darning. She has worked up a good business on our block. Each week after the washing is done, she collects the socks and stockings that need darning. In a couple of days she delivers them ready to wear. I tell Mrs. Baker that it is a dollar well spent to have that job off her hands. She thinks so, too. Young ladies make a number of dollars each week."

"One of her partners seems to cater more to miscellaneous mending. She comes around each Thursday evening after school and sews on buttons, patches the tears in clothing, and does all sorts of such odd jobs. I think that she visits a different family each evening and a couple on Saturday."

"While Mother is Out."
"Here are two theatre tickets I just bought. The only reason I could buy them is that there is another girl around our way who will come in and stay with the kiddies in the evening while Mrs. Baker and I go out."

I go out. What we really do is pay her half of the cost of the lessons. It's easy for her. We always put the children to bed, and they very seldom wake up. But, if we wouldn't think of leaving unless there were some one in the house."

"Well, certainly I would get acquainted with those girls of yours," was Mr. Johnson's comment. (Some new ideas about errands, next week.)

BORSINI CASE IS DROPPED BY STATE

The state's case against Humbert Borsini, Italian taxi driver in Beloit, charged with transporting girls over the state line into Illinois for immoral purposes, was dropped in circuit court yesterday afternoon upon motion of District Attorney Dunwiddie. Borsini was recently sentenced to one year in Port Leavenworth after a trial in the United States court at Superior for a violation of the Mann act. ## Heart and Home Problems

LETTERS MAY BE ADDRESSED TO MRS. THOMPSON, IN CARE OF THE GAZETTE

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am 19 years old and have been going with a young man two years. I think I love him as the man has often told me so. I haven't made up my mind yet whether I care for him enough to have him for my life partner. I don't have the opportunity to associate with other men to find out whether I love him or not, my parents not allowing me to have social gatherings. I do not know what to do. I do not intend to get married for three or four years, but he thinks if you go with a gentleman for a while that isn't my idea. In my opinion, a girl should pick her life partner and not take the first one that comes along.

How can I meet other men? Also please tell me how to explain to my parents how necessary it is for me to give parties and invite friends to my home. My parents could certainly well afford to have entertainments. HEART BROKEN. When a girl is in love with a young man, it is difficult for her to break away and make other friends. Young men take it for granted that she is engaged and look for other girls. Almost every church has a crowd of young people who are the crowd of their seniors. It seems to me that if you attend church gatherings you will have opportunity to meet young people and make friends. Since your parents will not allow you to entertain at home, why don't you go to a neighbor's home in the country? You could take about a three mile hike, build a campfire and make a bonfire. Coffee and cake would be nice. The coffee can be cooked over the fire and the wafers and marshmallows roasted. Some parents are unreasonable about entertaining. Of course, you should have a chance, but you cannot force your parents to give you that privilege. Ask permission when they are in good humor and do not annoy them with the request when they are not in good spirits.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Kindly furnish me with a few suggestions as to what I should bet in making a bet with a young man whom I have known for some time. MABEL B.

Bet a box of homemade candy or a book. If he loses the bet he should buy you candy.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: A while ago I received a letter from a very dear friend. He asked me to go to a certain place with him and told me to let him know if I would go. I did not let him know anything about it. Do you think I did right, or ought I to apologize? He is motherless and is very bashful.

Last spring I asked him to quit swearing. He did for a while but began again, but he doesn't swear as much as he used to. Do you think he cares anything for me? I care a great deal for him.

For a while this summer he wouldn't speak, but he started again. For two or three weeks now he hasn't spoken. Do you think he is angry at me? WORRIED.

Most invitations call for an answer. If you certainly should have told the boy at once that you were not going with him. I think it would be all right to write him a short note and explain that you are sorry for your tardiness.

I do not blame him for not speaking. He probably likes you or he would not have invited you to go with him the time you ignored his invitation.

She Married an Average Man

By ZOE BECKLEY.

So we are going to New York. I am not consulted; merely told by my husband that "we are going." Marriage is a good deal harder to make than I dreamed. Jim seems to do all the managing.

Something snapped in my heart last night when Jim and I were going to leave Centerville. Not that I shall refuse to go unless he explains his financial affairs and his assets, or that I shall refuse to go unless he explains his financial affairs and his assets, or that I shall refuse to go unless he explains his financial affairs and his assets.

In novels and melodramas the ignored wife plunges into a reckless love affair or raises an awful ruction and "gets her rights."

In real life most wives put up with what they have to and find a common sense way out of the rest.

There are three courses open to me. I can start my married life in all matters—and be a nice, mousy little door-mat. People will speak of me as "sweet" and "such a good wife."

I can oppose, quarrel, cry, nag and degenerate into a vinegary virago. People will call me a "she-devil," a "strong-minded female" or the "I-don't-blame-him-for-leaving-her" type.

I can quietly build up some interests of my own. This is the course I have resolved upon. I love myself too much to take the door-mat course. I love Jim too much to take the virago course. I love life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness too much not to take the third course. For this way I believe lies our mutual well-being.

When I married Jim, I had an invisible old employer who hated to let me change anything he dictated. He never wanted to be told, even when he made mistakes. I had some awful fits with him. I nearly "chucked my job." Then I found I could make the corrections without committing him—and he was lamblike, even appreciative.

Now I have a permanent job. Marriage, virtually the same situation confronts me. I won't resign from it, and I hardly think Jim will fire me. I am going to hold this job successfully if I die in the attempt.

I read something in a magazine the other day that set me thinking. "Many work capably, unselfishly and energetically at the job (of marriage) and make a great success of it. To such as do the job well the rewards are greater than to any to be obtained elsewhere in the world."

"In business, if you make a great success, there may come a time when people suggest that you might get out and give others a chance. Not so with marriage. If you win out in matrimony nobody wants you to quit. Everybody wants you to keep right on, stay in the neighborhood and come around for the evening."

"Marriage furnishes every man a chance to be a great man."

The writer didn't say anything about women. I think it takes a greater woman to be a successful wife than it does a man to be a successful husband. Women have more ideal about marriage than men. They not only have to survive the shattering of many of these ideas, but they have the heavy task of making the home, keeping attractive, raising children and overcoming the handicap of dependence.

What I have written here has been going through my mind all day. When Jim came home he said, "Why, sweetheart, how pretty you look! Been to a party? Oh, I know; it's because we're going to New York! I know you'd come around to it."

Yes, I have come around to it. But not in the way Jim means. (To be continued.)

SIDE TALKS

—By— RUTH CAMERON

WHY BOOKS MEAN DIFFERENT THINGS. When I was looking up a quotation in my familiar quotation book the other day I noticed a paragraph that I had underlined and I stopped to read it. And, for the life of me, I couldn't understand why I had underlined it. Which reminded me once more how much of our pleasure in what we read, is subjective. That sounds like an obvious statement, but there are some people who do not realize that truth.

The Scrap Book Keeps Her from Homesickness.

For instance, I know a very intelligent young man who has a scrapbook of thoughts which she has been collecting for years. She puts in it only the thoughts which still seem worthy of preservation to her after three months. She went to live alone in a big city recently. "I would have been terribly homesick," she said, "if I hadn't had my scrapbook to turn to."

All of that is very natural and beautiful. But here is the queer part. Brilliant woman though she is, she does not seem to realize that other people cannot get the same help out of that scrapbook that she does, because they haven't put into it what she has.

She shows it to all sorts of people with the firm belief that they will find it as beautiful as she does. And, of course, they don't. For my own part, there were a few thoughts that reached down into my heart, but much of it struck no spark at all, and some of it seemed downright commonplace.

She reads by a torch that I have not.

We looked at the worn pages together and on them she sees something that I cannot see. Her life experience is the torch that lights them up. I can only see the beauty of that which my own different life experience illumines.

One especially notices the subjective nature of the pleasure and the fact that the housekeeper will find it to her advantage to put up a generous amount of boiled cider. Boiled cider generally improves the flavor of mince-meat, and it can be used at any time of the year to make cider apple sauce.

Cider for boiling must be perfectly fresh and sweet. Put in a large, open preserving kettle and boil until reduced one-half. Skim frequently while boiling. Do not have the kettle more than two-thirds full. When the cider has boiled until it is fairly thick put in bottles, cans or stone jars which have been thoroughly sterilized. A clever combination and will be becoming to any young girl with brilliant coloring. Red duvetyne is the material used and it is bordered in all of the beautiful autumn shades. Such a set is practical as well as fashionable and what is more, it can be easily made at home by the clever needlewoman. The home mill can be even more beautiful than the bought ones for the designer can make use of any number of fabrics in the color that suits her best and then develop her own embroidery motif in contrasting shades. The caps may also be varied in shape to suit the wearer. The turbans like this one are more suited to some faces than the popular tam shapes which are often very trying.

SCARF SET OF RED DUVETYN FOR FALL

By ELOISE. HE scarf has undoubted right to first place this fall when it comes to dress accessories. Huge downy scarfs, long narrow silk ones and some made of fur fabrics are most popular to wear with the one piece frock or walking suit. Sometimes an exclusive suit or frock will have a novel scarf of the same material fastened on and fastened in the afterglow of the emotion which guided my pencil. When we read with some feeling that up at me out of the text with as much vividness as if I had never before seen it. Actually, I have read it a dozen times before, with the physical eye, but it has taken some life experience to make me able to read it with the understanding eye. Only the great literature will stand such intensive reading—and I am sure I do not need to tell you the book that seems to stand best or with one foot to yield up something as beautiful not just the seventh time, but even up to 70 times seven.

Old fashioned Cider Apple Sauce. Put eight quarts of pared, quartered and covered sweet apples in a minutes, stirring constantly. Add two tablespoons flour with with one teaspoon salt, one-fourth teaspoon paprika, one-fourth teaspoon mustard and a few grains cayenne. Pour on gradually while stirring constantly one-half cup milk; bring to boiling point, add one cup canned corn and cook five minutes; then add one egg slightly beaten, two-thirds cup dry bread broken in very small pieces and fried in butter until well browned.

RECIPES FOR A DAY. Stuffed Peppers—Wipe four long green peppers and parboil 10 minutes in boiling water, to which has been added one-fourth teaspoon soda. Drain, cut in halves lengthwise, remove seeds, stuff, arrange in pan covered with butter, crumbs and bake until crumbs are brown.

For the stuffing cook one-half tablespoon chopped onion and one-half tablespoon green pepper, cut in small pieces in two tablespoons oil five large preserving kettle and cover with five quarts of boiled cider. Cook slowly until the apples are tender and clear.

To prevent burning of the apples, place the kettle on an asbestos mat. It will require from two to three hours to cook the apples. If you find it necessary to stir the sauce be very careful to break the apple as little as possible.

Cooking pears must be preserved in boiled cider the same as sweet apples. To make the sauce less sour, one pound of sugar is added to each quart of boiled water—United States Department of Agriculture.

RAIN FAILS TO STOP BLUE GRID WARRIORS

In spite of wet weather Coach W. C. Lewis is keeping the blue and white football squad busy every night. Tuesday night Physical Director Groh of the M. C. A. gave the bunch a chalk talk explaining rules and all the fine points of the game. This talk was much needed, as most of the young hopefuls are new at the game and do not know what a rule book looks like.

Wednesday night Coach Lewis gave the team a chalk talk about signals. Many different plays were sketched, the poor ones weeded out and the team now has a cracking set of plays.

Practice was held at the fourth ward park yesterday afternoon. Tackling practice opened the program. Most of the candidates are weak on this but by steady practice they should all develop before the first game is played. On Saturday, October 11, Coach Lewis then divided the bunch into two teams putting both of them through some hard signal practice. After 15 minutes of this some stiff scrimmaging was held, which sent both teams to the showers.

Gavin played at center for the first team, with Claxton and Gridley at guards, Black and Merrick tackles with Black and Smith ends. Captain Gavin played at quarter with Raubacher full and Tinsdale and Dehgan at halves. Several old high school stars helped to make up the second team in addition to Newman at quarter, Barrage at full, Townsend and Scobie halves, Gosland at center and Taitel and Aullin at ends.

If the weather men smiles favorably next week so the squad can go through stiff scrimmaging every night the team should be ready to put up a real fight against the DeLeon high school team.

The mighty Marquette eleven, stronger than ever this year, with Tommie Cronin of this city playing one of the halfbacks, will clash with the Carroll combination at Milwaukee in another of the more interesting games of the day.

Other games in the west will be: Michigan vs. Case; Purdue vs. Franklin; Indiana vs. Centre college; Ohio State vs. Ohio Wesleyan; Michigan Aggies vs. Allston Notre Dame vs. Kalamazoo; Missouri vs. Drake; Oklahoma vs. Kingfisher; Ames vs. Coe; Drake vs. Penna college; Fort Riley vs. Kansas Aggies; Camp Dodge vs. Lincoln; Council vs. State Teachers college; Denison vs. Otterbein.

Marquette.—Prof. A. M. Olson, principal in education, died yesterday after an illness of a year. He had been head of the Stephenson Training school in this city for the last 14 years. Previous to this time, he taught in Oakfield and Kaukauna. He was a prominent war worker, and a member of the Chamber of Commerce.

important games at 5:30 in the afternoon, these returns to be posted on the bulletin board at the office.

Locally, football will not get its season's start until a week from Saturday when the high school gridirers will meet the DeLeon high eleven here. Interest here tomorrow centers on the Wisconsin-Ripon game at Madison. What chance the Badgers have of making a showing in the Big Ten this fall will be readily seen tomorrow.

Nebraska will meet Iowa at Iowa City while Minnesota will take on North Dakota at Minneapolis. This is always one of the closest of contests of the year for the Gophers.

MUSCLE RE-EDUCATION IN LOCOMOTOR ATAXIA (1)

The late Dr. S. Weir Mitchell, whose rest cure for neurasthenia is so well known, devised also a schedule of exercises of great value in the treatment of inco-ordination or loss of accurate control of the muscles as in locomotor ataxia. I have later adopted the method and give it a tentative label. The idea underlying muscle re-education exercises is that the movements performed are accompanied by a re-education of those nerve centers which control the sense of position and the sense of motion of the limb—which senses are early impaired in locomotor ataxia, for one of the earliest symptoms is awkwardness of mobility in the limbs. New movement and position-memories are developed in the brain. Now, or at least more nearly automatic nerve-impulses conducting paths are developed in the spinal cord. The method requires the utmost patience, but the exercises must always stop short of fatigue. Fatigue is particularly harmful to one with locomotor ataxia.

Here are the first five exercises for the hands and arms. Other exercises will be described in subsequent talks. 1. Sit before a table, place the hand upon it, then elevate each finger in succession as far as possible, let the movement be slow and deliberate and smooth and even as possible, done as though a drop of water were to be kept hanging from the finger tip undisturbed. Then raise the hand slightly and extend and flex each finger and thumb as far as possible and in the same precise manner. Do this with the right hand, then with the left. Repeat once.

2. With the hand extended on the table, abduct (spread out) the thumb, and then each finger in succession as far as possible. Repeat three times with each hand.

3. v. Touch with the end of the thumb, arm resting on the table, each fingertip in succession, separately and accurately. Then touch the middle of each phalanx of each finger separately and in succession with the tip of the thumb. Repeat all this three times.

4. With the hand in the position of piano playing elevate the thumb and fingers separately and in succession and bring them down again as quickly as possible. Do this 20 times with the right, and 20 times with the left hand.

5. Take a large sheet of paper and a pencil and make four dots in the four corners and one in the center of the paper as it lies before you on the table. Draw straight lines from each corner dot to the center dot with the right hand, and then with the left.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS.
See Wine Bibbers.

I have a friend who is making bee wine and she informs me that it is good for rheumatism and the nerves. Will you kindly explain what bee wine and bee beer and bee vinegar are? (Mrs. J. W.)

ANSWER.—These are alcoholic beverages prepared by fermenting various fluids with a wild yeast called "bee." Sometimes fancy titles like "Australian" bees are given to the wild yeasts. The grand old public is still as glib as in Barnum's heyday. The United States agricultural department has formally condemned these "bees," and the department is always preferable to the crude wild yeast called "bee," for any purpose in which fermentation is necessary.

I am seventeen years old, five feet four and one-half inches tall and weigh 128 pounds. Neither of my parents is so stout. I am trying to reduce but do not seem to accomplish anything. Will you advise my diet? (Miss E. M. M.)

ANSWER.—Let us hope not, Miss M. A girl five inches tall should weigh 128 to 130 at the age of seventeen. Far better for her health and appearance if she runs a little over average instead of under the average weight.

Symptoms of Worms.
Kindly inform me through your column the symptoms of a person who has worms. (H. D. H.)

ANSWER.—The only signs which really indicate the presence of worms are (1) worms or their segments in the bowel discharges and (2) the finding of the worms by microscopic examination.

Partners for 45 Years.
Sheboygan.—A 45 year old partnership was dissolved in the village of Wanda when Harmon & McIntyre sold their lumber yard and associated business to F. Z. Frazier and Jay Haller.

The Daily Novelette

A SANDALOUS STORY.

(Origin of the Famous Sayings Series.)

Looking neither to the right nor the left of him, or behind him, Diogenes kept on straight ahead with his eyes on the ground, sternly looking for an honest man.

And the boys were prophetic that day in June, 483 B. C., as he walked down the old stone road toward Corinth. Diogenes didn't find his honest man but he found something better—just aesteres, in a little red silk bag, lying in the alley beside Grapussy's wine shop.

So, holding his nose while he passed the shop (for Diogenes loved wine) he got safely down to the corner of the street.

But behold! a blind beggar steth there, holding his hand out, may two hands and both feet.

Shutting his eyes tightly (for Diogenes was a kind-hearted old Greek) he hurried past the beggar. And still the coins jingled in the folds of his toga.

A few steps farther down the street Diogenes saw, with joy, his old friends Diodotus and Pluto, but on getting nearer, he heard Diodotus bewailing the loss of nine sesterces in a little red silk bag near Grapussy's wine shop.

Plugging up both ears, Diogenes sneaked into the shadows (for he was an honest man) and tied his wending way upward. (See footnote.)

At last, Di reached the tub and breathed a sigh of relief as he sat down on the bottom.

Just then he heard women's voices outside—one of them his wife, Hiena. So, plastering up his ear to the bung-hole (for Diogenes hated a four good of himself), he listened.

"I saw the most exquisitely fine silver sandals in Solon's shop's Sandal Shop today and they were only nine sesterces!" exclaimed his wife. "I think I'll get them, for something tells me that Ogie has at last brought some money home. I'll search the folds of his toga tonight!"

"A stitch in time saves nine," quoth Hiena, as he sewed up his nine sesterces between the soles of his left foot sandal.

Footnote: Nine thousand, nine hundred and ninety-nine of the one-thousand historians all agree that Diogenes once lived in a tub, so who are we to disagree with him? Ed. Morning Glory.

Cocunut Oil Makes A Splendid Shampoo

If you want to keep your hair in good condition, be careful what you wash it with.

Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This irritates the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and is very harmful. Just plain multi-fused coconut oil (which is pure and entirely greaseless), is much better than the most expensive soap or anything else you can use for shampooing, as this can't possibly injure the hair.

Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. One or two teaspoonfuls will make an abundance of rich, creamy lather, and cleanses the hair and scalp thoroughly. The lather rinses out easily and removes every particle of dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and leaves it fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get multi-fused coconut oil at most any drug store. It is very cheap and a few ounces is enough to last everyone in the family for months.

REDS BATTLE SOX IN CHICAGO; THIRD GAME OF SERIES

PERFECT WEATHER AND CAPACITY ATTENDANCE GREET BALL PLAYERS.

KERR IS PITCHING

Takes Regular Position; Ruth, Sallee and King Get Warmed Up.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Comiskey Park, Chicago, Oct. 3.—Perfect weather and what promised to be a capacity attendance greeted the Cincinnati Reds and Chicago White Sox in the third game of the 1919 baseball series here today.

Noon the fair-weather of bleachers showed a mass of humanity, a thousand of whom came out to see the game. The bleachers were about three-fourths occupied, while the left field pavilion was almost filled and the remainder of the uncovered seats were being rapidly occupied.

Wounded Soldier First In.

When the gates to Comiskey park were opened at 9:25 a. m. the first man to enter the pavilion was a wounded soldier from the front lines. He was standing in line at the ticket window at 7 o'clock last night. He had a small basket of lunch and a pocketful of cigarettes. Next to Ryan in the park line was a man named Schaeffer, a striking mill worker from the South Chicago mills. W. J. Henry, an amateur swimmer, was standing next to him. A man occupied a position near third base and entertained the crowds. The huge grandstand was practically deserted two hours before play began.

Songsters on Hand.

At 12:15 a duo of popular song vocalists with large megaphones began singing their selections to the various stands.

The Reds made their appearance on the field at 1:10. They were followed by the White Sox, who immediately began batting practice.

The game served up benders to the Gleason lineup, which showed that Kerr was taking his regular position in the lineup. Sallee, who had been warming up in front of the Cincinnati bench.

Reds Take Field.

The Reds took the field at 1:10. Bressler began to serve up a few offerings and the visiting players welcomed the ball to all corners of the field. The Sox evidently not superstitious as they had 18 men in the diamond and field, handling the drives of an hour before the game time the grandstand was approximately half full, while there were many unoccupied seats in the pavilion and bleachers.

KING ALBERT HONORED BY CITY OF NEW YORK

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

New York, Oct. 3.—The name of King Albert of the Belgians was added today to the long roll of famous men who have been made honorary citizens of the city of New York.

From the moment that the king and his consort, Queen Elizabeth, landed at the Battery until his activity at the city hall, he was the center of an ovation which rivaled, even if it could not exceed, that accorded the king of the American Commander-in-Chief, Gen. J. J. Pershing.

Oconto County to Get New Jail; State Order

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Oconto, Oct. 3.—The Oconto county board of supervisors has authorized the rebuilding of the county jail here. The action follows condemnation of the present jail by the state auditor, who on a recent visit expressed the opinion that it was the worst building of its kind in the state.

STYLE SHOW MECCA FOR HOST FLOCKING IN WAKE OF BANDS EXTRA!

TWENTY MERCHANTS UNITE IN ANNUAL FALL SHOP OPENING.

DECORATIONS GAY

Party Frocks Allure Femininity With Promises of Social Season.

(By HARRIETTE WHEATON.)

Last night's plans started out as a combined opening but turned out to be a combined everything. Shows of all kinds were going on. The crowd was immense for a night in the city. The weather was ideal for an outing. Anyone who stayed at home needn't worry for fear he was missed down town.

The merchants combined style show with a band of its own playing a selection in front of each of the 20 stores in the combined program in the park, and the Salvation army on the Main and Milwaukee street corner all added to bring the masses out.

Each of the three had a crowd which vied with its competitor—an interchanging crowd eager to see the latest in fashion. The Court House park was the southern limit, midway between Franklin and Jackson, the western limit to Mecca.

The annual fall opening, the semi-annual show, was the mecca for the wandering tribe. Up and down the streets it went, seeking the latest in fashion. The various and enthusiastic enterprises in style display.

That so many charming frocks were shown in the city during the night of dreaming of silks and satins, ruffles and tulle, and dance frocks, featured in practically all women's stores, centered the feminine attention. The stores which feature women's attire, the fashion line which is the backbone of every style of dresses, suits and waists, massed against a background of autumn foliage made many a purse string feel that creeping feeling of a party in a black net and velvet for the madame was a striking piece of fashionable art seen at the Golden Eagle.

Autumn leaves and foliage, right for the season, were used in the window trimmings. Unique among the window trimmings were the bunches of cat tails attractively utilized by some stores. Yellow chrysanthemums were used at the Walker hat shop, more chrysanthemums at the Golden Eagle. The window displays were a sight to behold.

A rich brown tulle stood out and another shade of the coming season. It was worked up into party dresses, suits, dinner frocks, and a host of other things. The window displays were a sight to behold.

GARY SOWS SEEDS OF ANARCHY, TIGHE CLAIMS IN SENATE

PRESIDENT OF IRON, STEEL AND TIN WORKERS' UNION TESTIFIES

FOSTER IS CALLED

"Closed Shop" Not Issue Of Strike, Declares Leader During Inquiry.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington, Oct. 3.—In refusing to arbitrate the steel strike, Elbert H. Gary, chairman of board of the United States Steel corporation, is "sowing the seeds of anarchy," the senate committee investigating the strike was told today by Michael F. Tighe, president of the union of iron, steel, and tin workers.

W. Z. Foster, secretary of the general strike committee, testified that Tighe had concluded, armed with copies of his book on "syndicalism," members of the committee were ready for sharp cross-examination of Foster.

"I was much put out yesterday by Judge Gary's refusal to compromise or arbitrate this issue," said Tighe. "He is sowing the seeds of anarchy, promoting the insidious doctrine that there is no way out of industrial difficulties except by the destruction of one side or the other."

Says "Closed Shop" Not Issue.

Tighe reiterated that the "closed shop" was not an issue and said the union leaders could not comply with the senate committee's request to postpone the strike until after the industrial conference next week because the most optimistic of Americans had not yet heard of the conference.

Giving a detailed history of union activities in the steel industry, Michael F. Tighe, told the senate committee that the United States steel corporation, instead of "leading the way" in the industry, as Judge Gary has claimed, has lagged behind other organizations.

"Information given to you by Judge Gary," Tighe said, "was not first-hand evidence gained from practical knowledge of the industry, but instead consisted of the testimony of a man who has never been in the industry, and who has never sought the 'closed shop,' but 'union shops.'"

Tighe repeated the charge that the steel corporation early in its history had appropriated $20,000,000 to fight against the union, and that it had never sought the "closed shop," but "union shops."

The effect is the same as a closed shop," asked Senator Sterling, republican, South Dakota.

"No," said Tighe. "The effect is the same as a closed shop," asked Senator Sterling, republican, South Dakota.

Calls for Holiday

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Mayor T. E. Welsh, anxious to have welcome home day for the returned service men, the greatest day in the history of Janesville, has issued a call to all merchants and manufacturers asking that they close their places Wednesday, October 8.

The mayor's request follows: "In the darkest hours of the great world war when the fate of the American nation and the world as well hung in the balance, when even the most optimistic of Americans had almost lost hope, and we were all anxiously waiting for news from our heroic boys that the tide had turned, every loyal citizen of Janesville promised himself that if the fortunes of war should return our boys victorious, we would give them a day of rest and a day of welcome."

"Now let us return those promises and do our utmost to show those boys of ours that we made no idle promises. That Janesville will pay the debt to them gladly and cheerfully."

"Now therefore I earnestly request that the merchants and manufacturers of Janesville observe October 8, a holiday, and do their utmost to give the soldiers of Janesville and Rock county and their relatives and friends a day that they will always remember, that Janesville pays her debts and that we are fully aware of our obligation to these boys and will pay them."

NO AGREEMENT IS REACHED IN RAIL STRIKE IN ENGLAND

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

London, Oct. 3.—C. T. Cramp, president of the national union of railway men, declared today that the situation relative to the railroad strike was still unsolved. He said negotiations were continuing, but that the men were more determined than ever to support their leaders.

Crowds thronged Downing street in expectation of a resumption of the conferences between the transport workers' representatives and other trade unionists with Premier Lloyd George.

J. T. Thomas, the railway union secretary, announced that the members of the transport workers' union were unanimous in support of the national union of railway men in refusing the government's offer regarding a settlement.

The government had insisted that work must be resumed by the railroad strikers before the negotiations could be reopened, but it appeared that the labor leaders objected both to this proposition and to the carrying out of the government's order.

Instructions to the miners' organization were issued by Robert Smillie, their leader, today. All the miners' federations were advised against accepting action on the part of the government.

The ministry of labor has in the meantime posted an urgent call for the services of volunteer bus drivers.

Heart and Home Problems

LETTERS MAY BE ADDRESSED TO MRS. THOMPSON, IN CARE OF THE GAZETTE

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am 19 years old and have been going with a young man two years. I think he loves me, as the man has often told me so. I haven't made up my mind yet whether I care for him enough to have him for my life partner. I didn't have the opportunity to associate with other men to find out whether I love him or not, my parents not allowing me to have social gatherings. I don't know what to do. I do not intend to get married for three or four years, but he thinks if you go with a gentleman for a while you are going to marry him. That isn't my idea. In my opinion a girl should pick her life partner and not take the first one that comes along.

HEART BROKEN.
When a girl gets "tied" to one man it is difficult for her to break away and make other friends. Young men take it for granted that she is engaged and look for other girls.

Almost every church has a crowd of young people who are in opinion about a "tied" girl. You could talk it over with the pastor. If you attend church gatherings you will have opportunity to meet young people and make friends.

Your parents will not allow you to entertain at home, why don't you give a "weiner roast" somewhere in the country? You could talk about a "tied" girl, build a campfire and serve buns, weiners, coffee and marshmallows. The coffee can be cooked over the fire and the weiners and buns roasted.

Some parents are unreasonable about entertaining. Of course you should have a chance, but you cannot force your parents to give you that privilege. Ask permission when they are in good humor and do not annoy them with the request when they are not in good spirits.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Kindly turn me to a few suggestions as to what I should be in making a bet with a young man whom I have known for some time.

MABEL B.
Bet a box of homemade candy or a book. If he loses the bet he should buy you candy.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: A while ago I received a letter from a very dear friend. He asked me to go to a certain place with him and told me to let him know if I would go. I did not let him know anything about it.

Do you think I did right, or ought I to answer him? He is motherless and is very bashful.

Last spring I asked him to quit swearing. He did for a while but began again. He doesn't swear as much as he used to. Do you think he cares anything for me? I care a great deal for him.

For two or three weeks now he hasn't spoken. Do you think he is angry with me? WORRIED.

Most invitations call for an answer. You certainly should have told the boy at once that you were not going with him. I think it would be all right to write him a short note and explain that you are sorry for your rudeness.

I do not blame him for not speaking. He probably likes you or he would not have invited you to go with him the time you ignored his invitation.

She Married an Average Man

By ZOE BECKLEY.

So we are going to New York. I am not consulted; merely told by my husband that "We are going." Marriage is a good deal harder to manage than I dreamed. Jim seems to do all the managing.

Something snapped in my heart last night when Jim announced so masterfully that we were going to leave Centerville. Not that I shall refuse to go unless he explains his financial affairs and his exact arrangement with Charles Bolton, or make a scene, or go home to mother, or have nervous prostration.

In novels and melodramas the ignored wife plunges into a reckless love affair or stages an awful ruction and "gets her revenge" on the man who has treated her so badly.

In real life most wives put up with what they have to and find a common sense way out of the rest.

There are three ways open to me. I can start my married life by bowing to my husband's will in all matters—and be a nice, mangy little door-mat. People will speak of me as "awful" and "such a good wife."

I can oppose, quarrel, cry, nag—and degenerate into a vinegary virago. People will call me a "strong-minded female" of the "I-don't-blame-him-for-leaving-her" type.

Or I can quietly build up some interests of my own.

This is the course I have resolved upon. I love myself too much to take the door-mat course. I love Jim too much to take the virago course. I love life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness too much to take the third course. For this way I believe lies our mutual well-being.

When I earned my living, before I married Jim, I had an irresistible old employer who hated to have me change anything he dictated. He never wanted to be told, even when he made mistakes. I had come awful times with him. I nearly "chucked my job." Then I found I could make the corrections without consulting him—and he was lamblike, even appreciative.

I have a permanent job—marriage. Virtually the same situation confronts me. I won't resign from it, and I hardly think Jim will fire me. I am going to hold this job successfully if I die in the attempt.

I read something in a magazine the other day that set me thinking. "Many work capably, unselfishly and energetically at the job (of marriage) and make a great success of it. To such as do the job well the rewards are greater than to any to be obtained elsewhere in the world."

"In business, if you make a great success, there may come a time when people suggest that you might get out and give others a chance. Not so with marriage. If you win out in matrimony nobody wants you to quit."

Everybody wants you to keep right on "play in the neighborhood and come around for the evening."

"Marriage furnishes every man a chance to be a great man."

The writer didn't say anything about women. I think it takes a greater woman to be a successful wife than it does a man to be a successful husband. Women have more ideal about marriage than men. They not only have to survive the shattering of many of these ideals, but they have the heavy task of making the home, keeping attractive, rearing children and overcoming the handicap of dependence.

What I have written here has been going through my mind all day. When Jim came home he said, "Why, sweetest, how pretty you look! Been to a party? Oh, I know; it's because we're going to New York! I knew you'd come around to it."

Yes, I have come around to it. But not in the way Jim means. —(To be continued.)

SIDE TALKS

WHY BOOKS MEAN DIFFERENT THINGS.

When I was looking up a quotation in my familiar quotation book the other day I noticed a paragraph that I had underlined and I stopped to read it. And for the life of me, I couldn't understand why I had underlined it. Which reminded me once more how much of our pleasure in what we read, is subjective. That sounds like an obvious statement, but there are some people who do not realize that truth.

The Scrap Book Keeps Her from Homeliness.

For instance, I know a very intellectual woman who has a scrapbook of thoughts which she has been collecting for years. She puts in it only the thoughts which still seem worthy of preservation to her after three months. She went to live alone in a big city recently. "I would have been terribly lonesome," she said, "if I hadn't had my scrapbook to turn to."

All of this is very natural and beautiful. But here is the queer part. Brilliant woman though she is, she does not seem to realize that other people cannot get the same help out of that scrapbook that she does, because they haven't put into it what she has.

She shows it to all sorts of people with the firm belief that they will find it as beautiful as she does. And, of course, they don't. For my own part, there were a few thoughts that reached down into my heart, but much of it struck no spark at all, and some of it seemed downright commonplace.

She Reads by a Torch That I Have Not.
We looked at the worn pages together and on them she sees something that I cannot see. Her life experience is the torch that lights them up. I can only see the beauty of that which my own different life experience illumines.

One especially notices the subjective nature of one's pleasure and one's understanding when one reads at intervals throughout life.

It is almost like looking over an old diary to read some such books. One remains with the emotion that made one mark this passage or that.

For instance, in Emerson's essays I find underscored (with wavy lines) "what a single tone of one voice could make the heart beat, and the most trivial circumstance associated with one form is put in the amber of memory," and I bask for a moment in the afterglow of the emotion which guided my pencil.

When we read with the Seeing Eye, we find that we are sure one is to find new pages to mark! I never read my favorite essays in Stevenson without having some sentence flash up at me out of the text with as much vividness as if I had never before seen it. Actually, I have read it a dozen times before with the physical eye, but it has taken some life experience to make me able to read it with the understanding eye.

Only the great literature will stand such intensive reading—and I am sure I do not need to tell you the book that seems to stand it best of all, and to yield up something new and beautiful not just the seventh time, but even up to 70 times seven.

SCARF SET OF RED DUVETYN FOR FALL

By ELOISE.
HE scarf has undisputed right to first place this fall when it comes to dress accessories.

Huge woolen scarfs, long narrow silk ones, and some made of fur fabrics are most popular to wear with the one piece frock or walking suit. Sometimes an exclusive suit or frock will have a novel scarf of the same material fastened on and finished with a tassel. Scarf sets with also gaining favor. They will be used also gaining favor. BOILED CIDER HINTS.
When the apple crop is abundant and a large quantity of cider is obtainable, the housekeeper will find it to her advantage to put up a generous amount of boiled cider. Boiled cider generally improves the flavor of mince meat, and it can be used at any time of the year to make cider apple sauce.

Cider for boiling must be perfectly fresh and sweet. Put in a large, open preserving kettle and boil until reduced one-half. Skim frequently while boiling. Do not have the kettle more than two-thirds full. When the cider has boiled until it is fairly thick put in bottles, cans or stone jars which have been thoroughly sterilized. A clever combination and will be coming to any young girl with brilliant coloring. Red duvetyn is the material used and it is embroidered in all of the beautiful autumn shades. Such a set is practical as well as fashionable and what is more, it can be easily made at home by the clever housewife. The home made ones can be even more beautiful than the bought ones for the designer can make use of any number of fabrics in the color that suits her best and then develop her own embroidery motif in contrasting shades. The caps may also be varied in shape to suit the wearer. The turbans like this one are more suited to some faces than the popular tam shapes which are often very trying.

Old Fashioned Cider Apple Sauce.
Put eight quarts of pared, quartered and covered sweet apples in a large preserving kettle and cover with five quarts of boiled cider. Cook slowly until the apples are tender and clear.

To prevent burning of the apples, place the kettle on an asbestos mat. It will require from two to three hours to cook the apples. If you find it necessary to stir the sauce be very careful to break the apple as little as possible.

Cooking pears must be preserved in boiled cider the same as sweet apples. To make the sauce less sour, one pound of sugar is added to each quart of boiled water.—United States Department of Agriculture.

GRAIN

Chicago Review.

Chicago, Oct. 3.—Reports of a big break in Argentine corn prices today to weaken the corn market. Uncertainty regarding President Wilson's condition opened the market to a general decline. Besides, the excellent weather prevailing gave an advantage to the selling side. Opening prices, which ranged from 35¢ to 36¢ lower, with December 35.25¢ to 35.75¢ and May 35.25¢ to 35.75¢, followed by moderate additional declines.

Oats sympathized with the weakness of corn, notwithstanding brisk demand from the seaboard. After opening unchanged to 1/2¢ lower, with December 22.25¢ to 22.75¢ and May 22.25¢ to 22.75¢, the market continued to sag. Highest quotations on hogs made provisions firm. Business, however, lacked volume.

Increased weakness developed later owing mainly to word that Argentine corn was expected to be much below what domestic corn, either old or new, could be delivered for. The close was heavy 2 1/2¢ to 1 1/2¢ net lower, with December 31.25¢ to 31.75¢ and May 31.25¢ to 31.75¢.

FINANCE

Wall Street Review.

New York, Oct. 3.—The stock market rebounded from a number of leaders to 2 points over yesterday's final quotations, but this seemed to serve as a foundation for fresh selling all gains soon being cancelled. Professional pressure was most marked in speculative shares, such as oils, motors, rubbers and tobaccos, where reactions extended from 2 to 7 points. Excepting Crucible, steel and equipments offered better resistance to the liquidating movement, which became general in the second hour; even the more representative issues showing little support. A few substantial rallies followed the opening rate of 7 percent for call loans.

Shares of the more popular issues were freely offered at the opening of today's stock market, the selling being attributed to the same factors which brought about yesterday's irregular movement. Crucible Steel was again the weak feature, losing 6 points. Declines in allied issues ranged from 1 to 2 points; oils, motors, tobacco and shipbuilding yielding as much. The few transactions in

(By Associated Press.)
London, Oct. 3.—The national union of railway men, declared shortly after 10 o'clock this morning that the situation relative to the railroad strike was still unsolved. He said reports were arriving at headquarters here from all districts, showing the men to be more determined than ever to support their leaders. Negotiations between the government and labor representatives other than railway men were resumed today.

Crowds thronged Downing street in expectation of a resumption of the conference between the transport workers' representatives and other trade unionists with Premier Lloyd-George.

J. T. Thomas, the railway union secretary, announced that the members of the deputation which took part in the Downing street conference yesterday were unanimous in their opinion that the railway men were refusing the government's offer regarding a settlement. The government had insisted that work must be resumed by the railroad strikers before the negotiations could be reopened, but it appeared that the labor leaders objected both to the proposition and to the carrying out of the government's order holding back the pay of the men for the last week they worked before the strike.

Instructions to the miners' organization were issued by Robert Smilley, their leader, today. All the miners' federations were advised against precipitate action in the present juncture, but the miners were ordered not to undertake the duties of striking railroad men.

The union of vehicle workers who operate the buses and other traffic in London, are today balloting to determine whether to strike in sympathy with the railroad men.

BILL DEMETRAL IS VICTOR OVER MEYERS

Chicago, Oct. 3.—Bill Demetral trimmed Johnny Meyers in their finish wrestling match at the Coliseum last night. Meyers' opponent was pinned at four minutes of the second fall. Johnny hurt his wrist while losing the first grapple.

Demetral gained the first fall from Meyers after 1 hour, 34 minutes and 17 seconds of fierce wrestling. He pinned his opponent by a tubby wrist lock and reverse body hold.

Both men were to have weighed in at 182 pounds, but before they met, Meyers jumped on the scales and weighed exactly 161 1/2 pounds. Demetral refused to get set for the 100 weight forfeit. He looked heavy.

In the first preliminary Marvin Pletina defeated Ed Robinson. Ed and Ben Reuben wrestled 42 minutes to a draw.

A big crowd sat and watched the wrestling match between the grapplers.

were presented with two runs. Risberg singled to left with one out and Schalk followed with a two bagger along the right side. A foul line. Neale's stunt was a foul ball that it was clear to the left bleacher fence, and both Risberg and Schalk went all the way home.

In the eighth Jackson singled with two out and went to third when Daubert threw the ball past Salce, who had gone over to cover first. Groh's magnificent play on Teitel followed and again a Sex run died

On Tuesday, the ninth Gandil opened with a single, but Risberg hit into a double play. This proved a lucky break for Salee, as Schaak came up and made another hit. McMillin was called out for one last effort, but was an easy out. It was another great day for Cincinnati.

Wildcats Will Meet

The Wildcats will meet the heavy hitting Willowdale farmers at Talmadge's diamond Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The Cats will practice that night. The management is planning to take the team to Albany to play the junior league there.

The batting order for Sunday's game: Donagan, 1b; A. Meek, c; Hummel, cf; Flynn, c; Munson, 2b; Fish, p; Bergman, 3b; Brennan, 1b.

Ray Fisher, former New York American League hurler, both right-handed and both stars of the pennant campaign.

In what little betting was reported today on the games, the odds were 8 to 5 favorites. On Monday's game the odds were even bets at every turn, but in most cases the White Sox followers dominated the odds. There was plenty of Cincinnati money, but few Chicago takers.

HUNDREDS WAIT IN
SEE CONTEST TODAY

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Chicago, Oct. 3.—Currying a two-game lead, the Cincinnati Reds today invaded the White Sox for the third contest of the world series—the game which, virtually will decide whether the American league or the National League will acquire contenders for the championship or an overwhelming handicap during the remainder of the series.

Some two teams, accompanied by some 2,000 Cincinnati rioters, arrived here early today on more than a dozen trains, and the Sox were expected to return to Ohio Sunday night, possessors of baseball's highest honors, and the White Sox determined to overcome the odds while playing on their home grounds.

Despite the fact that the White Sox 5 to 4 favorites before the season began, two straight games to the National league's followers or winning streak of the favorites and fans began gathering at the baseball park last night, waiting, in line to purchase the general admission tickets which were on sale at 5 o'clock this morning.

Fleecy clouds scurried around the sky this morning, but, according to the weather forecast, it will be no rain until night. Cooler weather with moderate, variable winds was predicted, giving promise that the third game will be a much better one than can be interfered with by the weather.

First Fan Shows at 5:30.

The first fan appeared at the park at 5 o'clock, just at the afternoon gates were opened. A few minutes later and shortly later others appeared. By midnight more than one hundred were in line and all night the ticket seekers were in line. At the Special Details of police were placed at the park, but no disorders are reported. Included among the waiters was a fair sprinkling of the "big boys" who are in a point of vantage for the third game.

In order to prevent tickets falling into the hands of scalpers and to expedite the sale, special arrangements were made by the club management. Each prospective purchaser was required to have exact change for his ticket ready, and the club will have a pavilion space for $2.25 allowed to purchase more than one ticket, and after receiving the park board's approval, the tickets were sold mostly into the park. Ten thousand bleacher tickets and 6,500 of the pavilion were placed on sale.

Discussion of the game centered on the pitching largely on who would be given the pitching assignment by Manager Gleason of the Sox. Although Manager Gleason of the Sox announced last night at Cincinnati that he probably would select Dick Kerr, the sensational young left hander, there was a general feeling that the Sox would not be called on to pitch on such a critical time and that Gleason would switch to one of his veterans before game time.

Clemons, who was considered the favorite to pitch, was out of the American league, who was pounded from the box in the fourth inning of the first game, and Urban was considered the favorite to pitch. The two were the foremost probabilities. Faber, however, has pitched only indifferent ball this season. Kerr, is facing his first world series game, and this is his first big league season. The fact that he is a southpaw, however, may bring him the assignment, because of the manner in which he held down the Reds, despite the loss of the game.

For the Reds, Manager Moran un-
